◆ A PROPOSAL AT THE ALTAR

Before a large crowd of church members and visitors at First Baptist Church of Athens this past Sunday morning, Mickey Watters not only joined the church, but joined his heart to Bunny Breedwell. The couple had been dating for several months. Mickey came forward to join the church at the conclusion of the Sunday service. Dr. Jason Clark, the pastor, invited Bunny to come forward to stand with him, then handed the microphone to Mickey. Mickey talked about his love for Bunny, and then knelt down before her and asked her to marry him. Through tears, she said "Yes!" Dr. Clark then reached into a flower pot where the engagement ring was hidden and handed the ring to Mickey. Bunny says she was totally surprised. She says they plan to be married early next year.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY-Oct. 12

1492 - At 2 a.m., a lookout on one of Christopher Columbus's ships sighted land. It turned out to be a little island in the Bahamas group--San Salvador, also known as Watlings Island. Columbus thought he had reached India. Several countries in the Americas celebrate Columbus Day today. (In the U.S., Columbus Day is generally observed on the closest Monday so federal employees can have a three-day weekend.)

1960 - Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev removed one of his shoes and pounded it on his desk during a speech before the United Nations.

1973 - President Richard Nixon named Congressman Gerald Ford of Michigan as his choice to become Vice-President, replacing Spiro Agnew who had resigned. Ford later became President when President Nixon resigned.

1984 - British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher escaped injury in the bombing of a hotel in Brighton Beach, England, where her cabinet was staying.
