State & Local News

◆ ATHENS WOMAN DIES IN C.R. 717 CRASH

An Athens woman was killed in a one vehicle traffic crash on County Road 717 around noon Tuesday. State Trooper Travis Ryans says a car driven by Tammy Nichols, 38, ran off the road at a bridge, went airborne, and came to rest in two feet of water. He says Ms. Nichols was ejected and was submerged in the water. She was dead at the scene.

◆ COMMUNITY NEWS YOU CAN USE:

- ✓ There will be a called meeting of the Athens City Council at 10 a.m. today in the Athens Municipal Building. The purpose is to approve an agreement with McMinn County Emergency Communications to provide emergency communications and dispatching services for the City of Athens.
- ✓ The Evening Pilot Club of Athens will present a Fall Fashion Show this Saturday at 12 noon at the McMinn Senior Center. Tickets are $18 per person. Call Kay Coker for tickets at 423-745-6047.
- ✓ This week's "Battling Bulges with Bulbs" event will be tomorrow at 11:30 a.m. in the Athens Regional Park. Volunteers are invited to come plant flower bulbs and lose calories in the process.

NATIONAL & WORLD NEWS

- ◆ The Federal Reserve says it will sell $400 billion of its shorter-term securities to buy longer-term holdings in an effort to boost the nation's weak economy. Stocks fell immediately after the announcement. The Dow Jones closed down 283.82 at 11,124.84.
- ◆ President Obama says there can be no short cut to peace between Israel and the Palestinians. In a speech to the U.N. General Assembly, Obama said peace will not come through U.N. resolutions. He said ultimately it will be Israelis and Palestinians who must reach agreement on the issues that divide them.
- ◆ U.S. Senator Lamar Alexander of Tennessee says he will step down from the number three Republican leadership position in January when he completes four years as chairman of the Senate Republican Conference. Alexander says stepping down will allow him to work on the issues he cares most about, such as stopping runaway regulations and spending.
- ◆ A British study finds that former smokers have a better-functioning memory than people who still smoke.
- ◆ A 27-inch tall college student from Illinois is the world's shortest woman, according to Guinness World Records. Bridgette Jordan is 22 and a student at Kaskasia College.

Sheriff Asks for Public's Help

McMinn County Sheriff Joe Guy is inviting burglary victims during 2011 to meet with his detectives to identify recently recovered stolen property. Some of the items include jewelry, watches, power tools, DVD's & players, knives, coins, & various other items. Victims can come to the Justice Center between 3pm & 5pm weekdays to identify their property. Detectives will use past theft reports to match the property with the rightful owners. Guy states that much of the stolen property was used to trade for drugs. Guy credits old fashioned police work for solving about half the cases.
