Local & State News

◆ TWC WINS BASEBALL WORLD SERIES

Athens is the home of the World Series champs. The Tennessee Wesleyan College Bulldogs defeated Rogers State, 10-6, Friday night to win the NAIA World Series championship game in Lewiston, Idaho. Jordan Guida was named Most Valuable Player for the tournament. The team was welcomed home Saturday night with a community reception at the TWC ball field. The photo shows the Bulldogs celebrating after their victory. (Photo courtesy of TWC)

NOTE: Forrest Ave. will be closed from Green Street to Houston Street on Tuesday, June 5th, from 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. for sewer line repairs.

NATIONAL & WORLD NEWS

- ◆ George Zimmerman has turned himself in to authorities in Sanford, Florida, after a judge revoked his bond in the Trayvon Martin case. The judge said Zimmerman and his wife were not honest about their finances. During a bond hearing in April, the couple indicated they had limited funds. But prosecutors say Zimmerman had raised thousands through a website he had set up for his legal defense.
- ◆ Doctors at Duke University have successfully dropped the first "smart bomb" on breast cancer, using a drug to deliver a toxic payload to tumor cells while leaving healthy cells alone. In tests, the treatment extended by several months the time women lived without their cancer getting worse.
- ◆ Authorities in Arizona say five bodies found burned beyond recognition inside the shell of a charred SUV were likely the result of drug cartel violence. The bodies and vehicle were found in a rugged desert area that is a well-known smuggling corridor for drugs and illegal immigrants headed from Mexico to the U.S.
- ◆ Phoenix, Arizona, police have arrested a woman who allegedly drove off, forgetting that her 5-week-old baby was in a car seat on the roof of her vehicle. The baby was not hurt.
