NATIONAL & WORLD NEWS

◆ Forty years ago today in 1973, the last combat troops left Vietnam to return home. Soldiers were advised to change into civilian clothes on their flights home because of fears they would be accosted by protesters after they landed.

◆ Barbara Walters, 84, plans to retire in May of next year. Walters career began in 1961 as a writer for the "Today" show where she later became a co-host before leaving in 1976. She became the first woman to co-anchor the ABC evening news with Harry Reasoner. After leaving the evening news, she did regularly scheduled interviews and became the co-host of 20/20 with Hugh Downs for 2 decades. In 1977, she created The View where she has hosted occasionally on a semi-regular basis.

◆ Eric Harroun, 30, U.S. Army veteran from Phoenix, was charged in U.S. District Court in Alexandria, Virginia with firing rocket propelled grenades as part of an attack led by an al-Qaida group against the government of Syrian President Bashar al-Assad. Harroun served three years in the Army before being medically discharged. Harroun is accused of engaging in military action in Syria, siding with rebel forces against the Syrian government, from January to March of this year.
