World & National News

◆ Three testimonies to the House Oversight Committee of the Benghazi attack were given by Gregory Hicks, the former deputy chief of the mission in Libya, Eric Nordstrom, former Tripoli Regional Officer, and Mark Thompson, Deputy Coordinator for Operations in the U.S. State Department's Bureau of Counterterrorism. Hicks choked to a hoarse whisper as he recalled the phone call from Libya's prime minister telling him that Ambassador Stevens had passed away. Thompson testified that he had urged the deployment of an elite military response team, but was rebuffed by the White House, and Nordstrom fought back tears as he stressed the importance and how much it matters to friends and family members of the deceased that they find out exactly what happened prior, during, and after the attack in Benghazi.

◆ The Cleveland, Ohio home where Amanda Berry, 27, Gina DeJesus, 23, and Michelle Knight, 32, were allegedly held captive for nearly a decade had ropes, chains and padlocked doors inside. The women were held with chains and ropes, and allowed outside only occasionally. Berry escaped from the home and called 911 from a neighbor's home, and the other women were released after the police arrived on the scene.
