LOCAL & AREA NEWS

◆ ATHENS RANKED #2 IN CRIME IN STATE?

What are the most dangerous cities in Tennessee? According to a new ranking by the ADT Home Security Co., Crossville is the most dangerous city and Athens is ranked #2. The rankings are based on figures released each year by the FBI. ADT looked at crime rates ranging from property crimes to murders. According to the ranking, Athens had a crime rate of about 99 per 1,000 residents in 2012. The report says your chance of becoming a victim of a crime in Athens is one in 10. Memphis was ranked #3, Dyersburg was #4, and Knoxville was #5. Cleveland ranked #10 on the ADT list.

◆ COMMUNITY NEWS YOU CAN USE:

- ✓ Faith Ride 2014, a motorcycle ride to benefit Women at the Well will be held on October 4th starting at 10 a.m. at the Englewood Church of God. The registration fee is $20.00. For more information, call 745-0010.
- ✓ The Athens Parks Department is taking registrations for the "Z" Day 5k Race to be held on Nov. 1 at 9 a.m. at the Athens Regional Park. Participants can either be runners or "zombies." Racers will carry two flags on their belt. Zombies will be trying to pull the flags off as the runners go by. For details, call 744-2704.

NATIONAL & WORLD NEWS

◆ A British citizen captured in Syria two years ago has resurfaced in a new ISIS propaganda video released on YouTube. But unlike the previous gruesome beheading videos of three westerners, journalist John Cantlie is seen alive, seated alone at a desk in a darkened room, delivering the first of a series of "messages" about ISIS.

◆ More than two weeks after Home Depot's cyber-attack was first discovered, the retailer stated that the payment data breach exposed 56 million credit and debit cards. The breach has been contained and the malware responsible has been eliminated. The malware was custom-built to evade detection and, contrary to earlier reports, had not been seen in other breaches.

◆ Thursday marked a third consecutive day of gains for Wall Street. Gains were partially bolstered by a positive weekly unemployment report from the Department of Labor. The Dow Jones Industrial Average finished up 109.14 to a record close of 17,265.99.
