State and Local News

◆ PROPERTY TAX ROLL BACK NOT ON BALLOT

When Athens voters go to the polls next March, the ballot will include a vote on whether to raise the sales tax 0.75%. However, the ballot will not include the stipulation that property taxes will be rolled back if the sales tax increase passes. City officials say the state will not allow that stipulation to be included on the ballot. However, the city council says it plans to pass a resolution that will put them on record as promising to roll back the property tax increase if the sales tax hike passes.
