◆ SUSPECT NAMED IN SAFE HEIST

Warrants charging a Texas man with the January 25th burglary of the Piggly-Wiggly grocery store in Charleston have been issued by the Bradley County Sheriff's Office. Police have identified Christopher Lee Chambers, 29, (right) as a suspect in the burglary. He is named in warrants charging him with burglary and theft over $10,000. Police discovered a large hole in the roof that had been left by the burglar. A large and heavy safe had been taken from the store. The safe was found later in the back of a pickup truck that had been stolen earlier the same day from a car dealership in Athens. The safe had been cut open and its contents removed. During their investigation, Bradley County detectives found similar crimes stretching from Tennessee to Texas where the burglar cut a hole in the roof and removed a safe.
