Local & State News

◆ WHERE TO VIEW THE SOLAR ECLIPSE

Have you heard about the total solar eclipse that will move across the U.S. next August? Folks right here in the Athens area are in a perfect location to see it. NASA has released a map showing where the total solar eclipse can be seen best. In East Tennessee, the viewing line runs from Spring City to north of Niota. Watts Bar Lake is said to be one of the best places in the nation to view the solar eclipse. George Tuell at Sam's Boat Dock says he's already getting inquiries from people who want to rent a cabin there next August 21st so they can see the eclipse. The viewing map is shown below.

Sights of Sounds of Summer

We can't bring you the music, but we can show you some photos of the groups that performed at the Sounds of Summer concert this past Saturday night at Market Park. The photo below shows the opening band, Old Millennial. The group is from Athens. The band members are Aaron Vibbert, Chalmer McDermont, Chris Fernandez, and Scott Whitted.
