Today in History

1752 - Great Britain and its American colonies began using the Gregorian Calendar. The calendar is used almost universally today. It contains an extra day every four years, and its average year is about 26.3 seconds longer than the solar year.

1814 - Francis Scott Key wrote the lyrics to "The Star-Spangled Banner" after witnessing the British bombardment of Fort MCHenry in Maryland during the War of 1812.

1901 - President William B. McKinley died in Buffalo, N.Y., of gunshot wounds inflicted by an assassin eight days earlier. Vice President Theodore Roosevelt, 42, was sworn in, becoming the youngest president in U.S. history.

1939 - After many years of experimentation, Russian-born aircraft designer Igor I. Sikorsky flew his first successful helicopter.

1959 - The Soviet space probe Luna 2 became the first man-made object to reach the moon as it crashed onto the lunar surface.

1982 - Princess Grace of Monaco, formerly actress Grace Kelly, died at age 52 of injuries suffered in a car crash.

2001 - The FBI released the names of the 19 hijackers who took part in the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks; President George W. Bush toured the ruins of the World Trade Center and addressed rescue workers over a bullhorn.

National and World News

◆ Monthly U.S. consumer prices rose in August as declining gasoline prices were offset by gains in the costs of rent and food. Overall inflation is slowing as goods prices retreat after surging earlier this year. According to data from AAA, U.S. gasoline prices plunged from an average record high above $5 per gallon in June.

◆ The coffin of Queen Elizabeth II returned to Buckingham Palace on Tuesday evening through a drizzly London as crowds lined the route for a glimpse of the hearse and to bid her a final farewell. Thousands outside the palace cheered, "God save the queen!" and clapped as the hearse swung around a roundabout in front of the queen's official London residence and through the wrought iron gates. Her son, King Charles III, and other immediate family members waited inside.

TUESDAY'S MARKET REPORT: Equity markets fell more than 4%. Bond yields moved higher. The Dow Jones Industrial Average was down 1,276.37 to 31,104.97. The Standard & Poor's 500 Index was down 177.72 to 3,932.69, and the NASDAQ Composite Index was down 632.84 to 11,633.57.
