Today in History

TODAY IN HISTORY - NOVEMBER 3rd

1493 - On his second voyage to America, Christopher Columbus sighted the island of Dominica. He gave the mountainous island its name because it was a Sunday. Dominica is the Latin word for Sunday.

1868 - Republican Ulysses S. Grant won the presidential election over Democrat Horatio Seymour.

1897 - Dow Jones & Company, a financial publishing firm, began to publish an average of the common stock prices of twelve industrial companies. It was simply a daily total of the prices of these stocks divided by 12. Over the years, this system of averaging has become a little more complicated - taking into account the distortion of averages caused by stock splitting, etc. Computation was expanded to hourly averaging and to include 30 industrial firms. It's now known as the Dow Jones Industrials Average.

1948 - Singer Lulu (real name Marie Lawrie) was born in Scotland. Her one big hit record was "To Sir With Love" in 1967.

1957 - A dog named Laika became the first animal in space when it traveled on a Russian rocket launched on this date.

1964 - Lyndon Johnson was elected President by the largest majority in history as of that date. He defeated Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

1992 - Arkansas Governor Bill Clinton (and running-mate Al Gore) easily defeated President George H. W. Bush and V.P. Dan Quayle to win the U.S. presidential election.

2010 - The Federal Reserve announced a plan to buy $600 billion in Treasury bonds over the next eight months in an attempt to boost lending and stimulate the economy.

VOTE JUDY HAMILTON FOR ATHENS CITY COUNCIL

PROFESSIONAL & PROGRESSIVE

* I settled here in Athens nearly thirty years ago. This is my home!

* I've practiced law in Tennessee for 27 years and currently maintain a solo law practice here in Athens

* I raised my daughter here and enjoyed the benefits of strong public schools and a creative and energetic arts community. I want to make sure that this town is a strong and vital community where she and other young people are proud to stay or return after completing their studies.

* After reviewing the minutes and videos of the Athens City Council meetings during the past two years, I'm concerned that we are being held back and dragged down by a few individuals with personal grievances and feuds that are not constructive and do not contribute to the potential of this wonderful town.

That's why I am running for a seat on the Athens City Council and I'm asking for your vote on November 8th.

Please help me return the focus of the council to civility and sensible consideration of investments in our future and crucial municipal infrastructure and services!
