MooFest Another Big Success

✓ Once again a huge crowd gathered in Downtown Athens to celebrate MooFest this past Saturday. The event was presented by Mayfield Dairy Farms, The City of Athens, McMinn County Tourism Board, AgCentral, UT Extension, and Friendly City Festivals. The festival featured the Kiwanis Club's pancake breakfast, the Soap Box Derby, Mayfield's 100th Ice Cream production Anniversary Celebration, the Athens Lions Club 5k Run, and much more plus lots of vendors and food trucks. More photos in tomorrow's fax.

Dr. Tyler Forrest, of TWU, did a lot of pancake flipping!

Athens Vice Mayor Larry Easton was all wet in the CASA Corridor dunking booth.

Obituaries

♦ Noble Sutherland Dooly Clark, a resident of Morning Pointe of Athens, passed away Saturday, May 27th, 2023. She was the widow of George Amos Clark, Jr. and was long associated with Hiwassee Builders Supply, the company they founded in 1957. She earned a B.S. in home economics at the University of Tennessee and did a year of postgraduate work at the Merrill Palmer Institute in Detroit, Michigan. She was the director of the University of Georgia Nursery School and served as professor of Child Development. After having children of her own, she became a homemaker and focused on family, church and community. She drove Meals on Wheels for many years, led Girl Scouts and Cub Scouts, and her involvement ranged from Cursillo to the National Organization for Women. Above all, she loved to encourage children with books and creative play. At 98, Noble was the oldest living member of St Paul's Episcopal Church, where she was once a leader of the Episcopal Church Women, taught Sunday school, and served on the Vestry. A memorial service is planned for June 17th at 2 PM, St Paul's Episcopal Church, 123 Jackson St, Athens, followed by a reception in the parish hall at 3:30 PM. Laycock-Hobbs Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

♦ Priscilla Sutton, age 71, of Georgetown, passed away Friday, June 2nd. She was a native of Rhode Island but was a southerner by choice. She loved going to visit her family in her home state.

Obituaries Continued

Priscilla loved gardening, crossword puzzles, and her dogs. In her free time, she enjoyed being outdoors and having fun. A funeral service will be held at 7:00 p.m., Monday, June 5th at Bordwine Funeral Home. Visitation will be from 5:00 to 7:00 p.m., Monday, prior to the service. Family and friends will assemble at the funeral home, Tuesday, June 6th at 12:00 p.m. and proceed to McMinn Memory Gardens for the 1:00 p.m. committal service. Bordwine Funeral Home of Etowah is in charge of arrangements.

♦ Charlotte Rule, age 71, of Etowah, passed away Thursday, June 1st. She wore many names in her 71 years: wife, mom, Nani, caregiver, business owner, sister, daughter, and many more, but the title that stands out the most is helper. She would be first in line to help anyone that brought a problem to her and wouldn't rest until she had helped. A graveside service was held at 2:00 p.m. Sunday, June 4th in Green Hill Cemetery. Visitation was held Sunday prior to the service at the funeral home. Bordwine Funeral Home of Etowah was in charge of arrangements.
